Mission Statement

The Church of St. Francis Xavier, a Roman Catholic parish in the Jesuit tradition, strives to be a prophetic, welcoming community, and an inclusive witness to the presence of Christ Jesus in our midst. Mindful of our utter reliance on God, and need for God's grace, we rejoice together in our celebration of the sacraments and proclamation of the Gospel.

As a people of hope, we commit ourselves through prayerful and creative discernment to respond to God in our time by: Being a respectful community
Where seekers and their questions are welcomed, Where injustice is challenged, Where the poor, the alienated and the marginalized find a home,
And where people are refreshed,
reconciled and renewed.

From the Pastor's Desk

Dear Parishioners,

If you were fortunate enough to hear Fr. Sean's stirring homily last Sunday, a few days after the election, you know that he spoke of the most important election in each of our lives. He referred to God's election of us as God's chosen, beloved, elect. No matter what the outcome of our "elections", it is good to remember that each of us has received a call, an "election" by God that empowers us to work for the common good as brothers and sisters in Christ. I found Fr. Sean's words comforting as I know many of you did. In my case it's challenging to be "pastor" when there are so many who are heart-broken, discouraged, and weighed down by the events of the last weeks but also knowing that there are many others who have had a opposite reaction and are filled with hope and confidence. If you read my homily from last week on the website, you may get a better sense of my own attempt to make "sense" of the events of the past week.

Today we are celebrating the final Sunday of the liturgical year, Christ the King of the Universe. Recently I noticed that a parishioner referred to this as Christ Our Kin. I thought to myself that I would rather celebrate Christ our Kin than Christ our King. I think we need an image of someone who is 'united with us in our common humanity rather than one who is somehow "superior" to us. There is so much in our world that speaks of power and rule rather than humility and service.

I hope by now that you know that I'm not your typical pastor J. Although I'm doing the best I can to attend to "matters of moment" like finances, buildings, parish structures etc., my passion has always been the arts and the Spiritual Exercises. I am grateful that many of you came to see the screening of For the Greater Glory of God this past weekend. If you were unable to make it, you can see the work online at www.blde.org.

In the same vein, I've been rehearsing "Christmas Revelations", a dance/theater piece that celebrates the "true meaning of Christmas". I have had to dramatically adapt my former works to a much smaller stage but I have to say that the result is quite lovely and charming. I've assembled a cast of professional actors and dancers from NY, Boston and Kingston Jamaica with some "surprise" performances of well-known Xavier parishioners. Christmas Revelations is for everyone who loves Christmas but especially for children. I wish there were a way that I didn't have to charge admission but the costs of mounting a production like this in NY are considerable. I do hope (and pray) that you will be able to attend one of the performances. It will certainly give you an idea of "the music that makes me dance."

In the love of Christ our Kin,

Fr. Bob

A Table Divided – Thoughts on Thanksgiving Dinner

by Chaplain Lizzie Berne DeGear, PhD

“...From now on five in one household will be divided, three against two and two against three; they will be divided: father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.” Luke 12:51-53

This has never been one of my favorite passages from the gospels. But it came to mind last week, as I sat with friends and fellow-parishioners who were trying to absorb the shock brought on by the election, and trying to make sense of what for some of us has been a traumatic event that continues to unfold. A number of times, I heard people express anguish as they looked ahead to their Thanksgiving celebration with their families. Much has been said already about the divides that were revealed and intensified during this election cycle, and for some of us, those divides will be in evidence at the Thanksgiving table.

What to do?

It is tempting to skip over our own suffering in an attempt to seek peace, and to practice compassion for others. Fellow parishioner and psychologist Dr. Eileen Russell has just written a personal essay entitled Denial of Pain: The Danger of Moving on Too Quickly from the 2016 Election in which she powerfully advocates that we honor our own suffering before prematurely “getting past it.”

For those who may be struggling with how to approach the holidays, here are questions to help you discern:

“Will joining certain relatives around the holiday table require humility on my part, or will it put me and my beliefs in a position to be humiliated?” If it is the latter, you can lovingly decide to skip this year’s family event. You can explain that you are suffering right now, and that you look forward in hope to future family gatherings.

“Am I still in a traumatized state?” Many wise ones among us are calling for dialogue across the divide. This is a beautiful vision and a necessary step towards healing. But it requires a certain steadiness and perspective that are not available while one is still adjusting during or just after a trauma. Perhaps you and your relatives can all agree beforehand not to discuss national matters.

“How do I want to celebrate Thanksgiving?” Thanksgiving celebrates a time in our early history when native Americans and immigrant refugees from Europe sat down together to enjoy the bounty of the earth and their hard work. In a year when so much has happened, how do we want to celebrate? My next-door neighbor texted me the other day, “Can we invite a refugee family to our homes for Thanksgiving?” It had never occurred to me, but I found my heart saying yes.

REMEMBER XAVIER WHEN CONSIDERING A YEAR-END GIFT

First we want to thank all of you who have given so much of your time, talent, and treasure to support our parish throughout the year. As the end of the year approaches, we begin to reflect upon the many blessings bestowed upon us. The end of the year also provides a great opportunity to thank God for these blessings by gifting to Xavier. The parish is budgeting a $49,408 deficit for this fiscal year and projecting deficits totaling $65,000 over the next three years. Your year-end gift can help us reduce this deficit and thereby allow us to continue to celebrate vibrant liturgies and support our many ministries.

The benefits of income tax deductions, capital gains savings and other financial benefits are significant advantages that provide an incentive to make a gift at the year-end. A gift can also help support Xavier for years to come. There are many different ways of contributing a gift. Two of the easiest and most direct methods to gift are donations of cash and appreciated stock or other investments. You can also make other financially advantageous gifts such as real estate, life insurance, charitable remainder trusts, gift annuities, will/trust bequests and IRA/retirement accounts. For more information on how you can help make a difference by contributing a year-end gift please contact Jim Martinez in the parish office.
